

Jim Freeman

Design credentials: BS of Design, College of Architecture, UF 1995.

Design philosophy: "My intention is to be a conduit for the client to allow their visions, wants and desires to be translated to their new or remodeled home. I take my experience, and my vision – in conjunction with the input from the client – to make their final design something they are proud of, and feel is a value to their home. I feel the most critical part of design is to listen to the client, and not simply impart personal "likes" into every design. In doing that, making sure good design and layout is maintained."

Interests/hobbies: Fishing, coaching kids, working out and Gator Football.
